A BILL

To reauthorize the Violence Against Women Act of 1994.

1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2       tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3       SECTION 1. SENSE OF THE SENATE.

4       It is the sense of the Senate that Congress should—

5           (1) reauthorize the Violence Against Women
6       Act of 1994 (42 U.S.C. 13925 et seq.) (referred to 7       in this section as “VAWA”), a landmark bipartisan 8       bill that has dramatically improved the national re-
9       sponse to domestic and sexual violence;

1                         (2) renew the commitment of the United States
2                         to providing the resources necessary to combat all 3                         forms of domestic violence, sexual assault, dating vi-
4                         olence, and stalking, including important new initia-
5                         tives to reduce homicides, increase the focus on pre-6                         venting and responding to sexual assault, and make 7                         women on college campuses safer from domestic and 8                         sexual violence;

9                         (3) build upon the success of VAWA in trans-10                         forming the criminal justice and community-based 11                         response to abuse by bolstering and streamlining the 12                         programs, grants, and coalitions created by VAWA
13                         and expanding the reach of VAWA to meet the re-14                         maining unmet needs of victims;

15                         (4) continue to provide the training, tools, and 16                         resources necessary for law enforcement officers and 17                         victim service providers to hold the perpetrators of 18                         domestic and sexual violence accountable and to 19                         keep victims safe; and

20                         (5) ensure that all victims of domestic and sex-
21                         ual violence, including Native American women, gay 22                         and lesbian victims, and battered immigrant women, 23                         receive the support and protections provided by 24                         VAWA.
